

Building or Renovating?

There's one area you can't afford to overlook – Your home electrical needs. All too often people who've spent hours searching for the perfect taps and floor coverings don't adequately plan for electrical needs like lighting. They end up not having enough power points or aren't aware of the latest trends in switch design as well as those products that can reduce their power bills and save them money.

Another important factor is your light switches. For instance most bedrooms have a light switch by the door. Wouldn't it make sense to have two switches both wired to control the same light. This means you can switch off your lights after you hop into bed. Long hallways and stairwells would also benefit.

Call Brent McIntosh Electrical if you are building a new home or renovating an existing one to ensure that you get the latest market knowledge on products and sound advice on electrical design and products that best suit your home. From knocking down a wall to adding another level to your house, we will work with other trades to make your renovation a breeze.
