Electrical Inspections

We can thoroughly inspect your work place wiring and phone lines to detect any faults or potential problems.

Testing & Tagging

Under current legislation it is a requirement under the Occupational Health & Safety Section AS3760 20001 to have electrical equipment appliance etc. Certified Tested and Tagged for safety compliance. As can be expected, the penalties failing to comply are severe, and most businesses are not aware of these obligations. This is where we can help you.

We will give you a free assessment of your premises/office and let you know what your obligations are as a business owner.

We use the most advanced equipment on the market. Our system is fully comprehensive ensuring complete and accurate testing. We test from standard duty right up to the heavy duty equipment and each tag is colour coded to represent this. Once the testing is complete we will provide you with full test results and Test Certificates

Most Faulty Items - Including light fittings and extension leads can be replaced on site at a reasonable price.
